1. Purpose

This policy refers to sexual assault and sexual harassment (SASH) experienced by students. Sexual harassment and sexual assault are unacceptable. This Policy aims to foster a safe and healthy learning and working environment that is free from sexual harassment and sexual assault.

This Policy defines and gives examples of behaviours and misconduct that constitute sexual harassment and sexual assault, affirms the College's intolerance of sexual harassment and sexual assault, confirms its commitment to confidentiality and respect for privacy for victims of sexual harassment and sexual assault and outlines its processes for dealing with cases of sexual harassment and sexual assault.

2. Scope

Although this policy refers to sexual assault and sexual harassment experienced by students, its scope extends to all students, staff, and contractors at CHS.

This policy covers all CHS locations, including campuses and the online environment. Coverage applies to all CHS events, functions, staff activities, student activities, and all external locations that staff and students may attend which may be related to their study or work purposes. It should be noted that while there are limits on any sanction the College can impose in relation to allegations made against persons not connected with the College, the full range of support services is available in such cases.

Coverage also applies to all communications, whether face-to-face, by phone, email, or any other form of technology.

This document should be read in conjunction with other related policies (see Related Documents).

3. Principles

The following principles and practices form the foundation for this Policy:

Safety and Wellbeing

The safety and well-being of students, staff, contractors, and visitors are of paramount importance to the College. The priority of the College will be the safety and well-being of the person disclosing or formally reporting sexual assault or sexual harassment.

Compassion and Support

The College's response to a person who has experienced sexual harassment and or sexual assault is one of compassion, empathy, and support.

Confidentiality and Privacy

The College will treat any disclosure or formal reporting of Sexual Harassment or Sexual Assault with the utmost confidentiality and with respect to the privacy of the student or staff member and the alleged perpetrator.

Inclusivity

This Policy applies to all students, staff, contractors, and visitors, including those who identify as intergender, transgender and gender diverse, LGBTIQ, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander, with a disability, culturally and linguistically diverse, and international.

CHS recognises that students from other countries may have cultural and language proficiency impediments to disclosing or reporting sexual harassment and sexual assault. This matter is addressed at all International student orientation sessions, information sessions, and contact staff training.

Equity

CHS is committed to ensuring the equitable and open implementation of this Policy in accordance with CHS's Equity and Diversity Policy.

4. Policy

The College is committed to ensuring a safe learning and working environment that is free from sexual harassment and sexual assault and where all members of the College community are treated with dignity, courtesy, and respect.

Sexual harassment and sexual assault are prohibited, unacceptable, constitute serious misconduct and will not be tolerated under any circumstances at the College. In some cases, sexual harassment and sexual assault are criminal activities and police will be involved. Action will be taken against any person who breaches this policy.

All members of the College community have the right and the responsibility to maintain a learning and working environment free from sexual harassment and sexual assault and the policy applies to all members of the College community including staff, students, and contractors in attendance at the College or at a College event, function or activity and through any form of relevant contact or communication. The Policy applies whether the sexual harassment or sexual assault is initiated in person, by telephone, or through electronic technologies such as mobile phone cameras, social networking websites, emails, SMS/MMS communications, through another person, agent, or any other means.

The College will:

- provide support for the victim or complainant of sexual harassment and sexual assault
- protect the health and well-being of the complainant by ensuring any acts of victimisation or retaliation are investigated and dealt with in a timely manner
- treat any formal complaint or disclosure with sensitivity, confidentiality and in accordance with the Privacy Policy
- handle complaints fairly and equitably and in accordance with Equity and Diversity Policy

The Sexual Harassment and Sexual Assault information page on the website under Student Support Services. The College will implement training and awareness-raising strategies to ensure that all staff and students know their rights and responsibilities.

The College has set up SASH Taskforce with representatives from all campuses to act as an advisory for leadership and governance on SASH issues within the College. The SASH Taskforce's primary objective is to ensure ongoing implementation and improvement of measures to understand, prevent, identify, and respond to sexual assault and sexual harassment. The Terms of reference of the SASH Taskforce can be found on the information page.

5. Sexual Harassment

Definition

Sexual harassment is any unwelcome sexual behaviour that is likely to offend, humiliate or intimidate. It does not relate to mutual attraction or friendship. The Sexual Discrimination Act 1984 (Cth) defines sexual harassment as when

- the person makes an unwelcome sexual advance, or an unwelcome request for sexual favours, to the person harassed; or
- engages in other unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature in relation to the person harassed

in circumstances in which a reasonable person, having regard to all the circumstances, would have anticipated the possibility that the person harassed would be offended, humiliated, or intimidated.

Examples of sexual harassment include but are not limited to:

- unwelcome physical touching including deliberately brushing up against the other person
- uninvited kisses or embraces
- requests for sex
- staring or leering
- sexually explicit conversation
- suggestive comments or jokes
- unwanted requests to go out on dates, especially after a prior refusal
- intrusive questions about the person's private life or body
- making promises or threats in return for sexual favours
- "flashing" (exposing private parts of the body) or sexual gestures
- sex-based insults, taunts, teasing or name-calling
- touching or interfering with a person's clothing, e.g. lifting up skirts, flicking bra straps
- offensive phone calls or letters
- displaying posters, magazines, or screen savers of a sexual nature.
- stalking, sexual insults, or taunting
- emailing pornography or rude jokes
- sending sexually explicit texts
- offensive messages through new technologies such as mobile phone cameras, social networking websites, emails, or SMS/MMS communications.

When Sexual Harassment is a Criminal Offence

Sexual harassment that is also an offence under criminal law may be referred to the police; this includes matters involving:

- sexual assault
- physical molestation or assault
- indecent exposure
- stalking
- obscene communications

6. Sexual Assault

Definition

Sexual assault¹ is a legal term used to describe a range of sexual offences, from showing indecent images to another person, to kissing or touching them, as well as penetration of the person's body with a body part or object.

If someone:

- does something sexual that makes the person feel uncomfortable or
- touches the person's body when the person does not want them to, it may be a sexual assault.

'Sexual assault' is often called other names such as: sexual abuse, rape, indecent assault, sexual molestation, incest, obscene gestures, touching, voyeurism, 'feeling up', being forced to watch or participate in pornography, and child sexual abuse.

Sexual assault is a crime where the attacker uses force, abuse of power, violence, threats or tricks to control or take advantage of the victim.

If someone does something to make the person feel that the person has been assaulted, the person can seek help from counselling services, including sexual assault services. The College lists several of these services and their contact details on the Sexual Harassment and Sexual Assault information page. This also applies when the person does not want to report to the police, or if the person has reported to the police, but they do not believe that a crime has been committed.

If the person is not sure whether they have been sexually assaulted or not, the person can contact a sexual assault service referred to above. There are specially trained people who can help the person understand what has happened and identify and clarify the person's options.

Some people blame victims or make victims feel that they somehow asked to be sexually assaulted because of how they looked or dressed, or where they were at the time. This is not the case. It is never a victim's fault. Sexual assault is always a crime. For more definitions and examples of sexual assault²:

7. Consent or Not

Definition

Giving your consent³ means you knowingly and freely agree to take part in sex or sexual activity. Consent must be voluntary, informed and you can change your mind at any time. Informed consent means you understand what you are giving consent to and there is nothing preventing you from indicating if you agree, decline, or change your mind to take part in sex or sexual activity.

Consent can be withdrawn by any party at any point and must be voluntarily given and is not valid if a person is being subjected to actions or behaviours that elicit emotional, psychological, physical, reputational, financial pressure, threat, intimidation, or fear (coercion or force). Consent to engage in one sexual activity, or past agreement to engage in a particular sexual activity, cannot be presumed to constitute consent to engage in a different sexual activity or to repeat a sexual activity. Consent cannot be given by a person who does not have the capacity to give consent, including those who are intoxicated, unwell, distressed or otherwise disadvantaged.⁴

In the context of sexual relations and this policy 'consent' and 'consensual' mean that:

- No one is pressuring the person
- No one is forcing the person
- No one is threatening the person or threatening someone or something the person feels deeply about
- The person wants to have sex and has not changed their mind
- The person has the ability to stop when the person wants
- The person is awake and conscious
- The person is not overly affected by alcohol or drugs
- The person does not have a cognitive impairment that affects the ability to consent

In the context of sexual relations and this policy, factors not involving consent:

- lack of capacity to consent, e.g., a person is unconscious, affected by alcohol or drugs
- threat to or use of force, against another person, which need not involve physical violence or physical harm
- unlawful detention
- mistaken identity and mistakes as to the nature of the act
- position of authority or power, intimidation, or forceful conduct

8. Procedures

Making a formal complaint of sexual harassment and/or sexual assault

1. Students making a formal complaint of sexual harassment and/or sexual assault must be referred to the relevant support staff members to provide support and to assist them with the procedures involved in both the College complaint process and in referral to the police, where appropriate.
2. Formal reporting of the incident will prompt the offer of all support services available as a priority to the student involved or making the allegation with details available on the Sexual Harassment and

Disclosing sexual harassment and sexual assault

1. Students may decide to disclose the incident or incidents of sexual harassment and sexual assault. Disclosure may be made to:
 - a. the counselling service provided through Student Services, or
 - b. to the trained and identified staff members assigned to support students who have experienced sexual harassment or sexual assault, or
 - c. a staff member
 - d. by using the Sexual Assault and Sexual Harassment Incident Report found on the Forms page of the website: – <https://www.chsstudenthub.com/sash-incident-report>

Disclosure does not automatically constitute a formal complaint unless the student agrees to proceed and/or authorise a formal complaint. The College supports the right of students who have experienced sexual harassment or sexual assault to decide whether they want to report the incident to the College and/or to the police. Any disclosure will be handled confidentially, with advice provided concerning options available to the student in taking the matter further, including reporting to the police. In cases of disclosure to a staff member, advice to contact the College staff members assigned to support students who have experienced sexual harassment or sexual assault and/or the counselling service must be provided and where possible, facilitated.

2. Students may decide not to proceed with a formal complaint. In such cases, students may still utilise all College support services with details available on the Sexual Harassment and Sexual Assault information page of the website.
Referral of a case to the police does not preclude the College from dealing with a formal complaint using its formal complaint procedures as outlined in this policy.

9. Investigating formal complaints of sexual harassment and sexual assault

- Where the respondent is a College student, formal complaints of sexual harassment and sexual assault will be investigated by the CEO or Registrar who may be assisted by trained personnel where appropriate. The Registrar will inform the CEO of the College that a formal complaint has been made and that an investigation is being carried out.

11. Disciplinary action under this policy

13. Record keeping and reporting

The Registrar's Office will keep records of all complaints of sexual harassment and sexual assault, ensuring confidentiality and privacy.
